A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 10, 2009 has been entered.

Claims 1-3, 5-12 and 14-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The recitation "from the discharge end without explosive decompression" is not in the specification as originally filed.

The rejection of the claims over Morano has been dropped in view of the amendments to and arguments with respect to the claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3, 5-12 and 14-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reimers (3,305,447) alone or if necessary in view of Shukla (4,640,717).

Reimers discloses a method for making tableting sugar. Here granulated sugar is mixed with syrup and mixed, pulverized, compacted and ground prior to tableting (see cover figure). Example 1 shows mixing about 8% of 53% invert sugar syrup with granulated sucrose. Then the combination was pulverized using a 0.027 inch screen and was dried after screening. Claim 1 appears to differ from Reimers in the recitation of the particle size of the recovered sweetener or confection and in the recitation of the use of a twin screw fed mixer. It is appreciated that the final sucrose granule size is not mentioned but one of ordinary skill in the art would be able to adjust the particle size of the granules of Reimers by changing the pulverizer screen size. No unobvious or unexpected result is seen from this change. It is appreciated that a twin screw-fed mixer is not mentioned but Reimers uses a mixer. To select one type of mixer over the other would have been an obvious matter of choice with regard to the mixer that was available. Further Shukla teaches that twin screw extruders are known in the art of sugar processing (column 3, lines 32-50) for mixing and milling. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the twin screw fed mixer of Shukla in the Reimers tableting process to mix the sugar with the syrup. It is appreciated that the particular grind size of claim 3 is not mentioned but sucrose is known in the art to have various grind sizes. It is also appreciated that one or more than one flight of screws is not mentioned but to scale of the process of Reimers but no unobvious result is seen from the scale of the process.
